

Fifth day

We had a short workshop this day. Then we took a bus and went to a beautiful place called Cabo carvoeiro and saw the Berlengas. We went up to the light house near by and walked to a cliff where Leonore died (legend of Peniche). We took a long walk and went to the beach. We went swimming in the sea and eating ice cream like it was summer.

Interview: Maria (Iceland)

"I really like being in the painting group. We work well together and combine our ideas so it is something everyone is happy with. I like the teacher and his ideas even though sometimes we don't understand each other's English. The fifth day was my favorite day so far. It was great being on the beach and taking a long walk. I liked seeing where the story took place from the Portuguese legend. Though we came late to the Italian Presentation like a typical Icelander, I enjoyed it and I loved the food. I would really love to come to Italia some day. "

The Italian intercultural evening

The Italians showed us a video that shows places in Italy and another video showing the difference between Italy and the rest of the Europe. They taught us Italian body language and showed us a traditional dance called Pizziea. Then we had some bruschetta topped with fresh tomatoes, olive oil and some garlic and drank limoncello and amaro.

Financed by:

Organized by:

Supported by:

